Dantian Health is a clinic for Chinese herbal medicine and acupuncture treatment. The goal is to help empower you to reclaim your health and vitality.

The body has an innate ability to heal. It reveals its needs through subtle visual and textural signs. These manifestations reflect the underlying imbalances preventing your body from returning to a state of wellness.

Jason has a palpation-based approach to treatment, examining the pulse, abdomen and channels to identify these imbalances. Listening to these signals allows him to both establish a diagnosis and observe treatment progress.

Jason's philosophy in clinic is that the best place to start restoring one's health is through strengthening the functioning of the digestive system. Through enhancing the ability to receive nourishment, this empowers it to rebalance health and order in the body.

Jason has pursued postgraduate studies in the Tian family lineage of classical herbal medicine, under the tutelage of Arnaud Versluys of ICEAM, graduating with a Diploma in Canonical Chinese Medicine. He has also explored different styles of acupuncture practice, with a primary focus on the Nagano lineage of gentle Japanese acupuncture through the tutelage of Shimamura Tsuyoshi Sensei and Kiiko Matsumoto Sensei. Jason also is a qualified shiatsu and Tuina massage practitioner.

Clinically a wide range of health concerns may be helped with Chinese medicine treatment. To learn more or make a booking please visit the website at <https://www.dantianhealth.com.au> or contact directly on 0424 883 409.
